Readers of A. J. Russell's God Calling books and Sarah Young's Jesus Calling series may reject the idea of becoming a medium, channel, or psychic if it is put plainly before them. However, if it is introduced indirectly through Christian-sounding devotions, and if the spirit being channeled is called "Jesus," they might be more receptive.

The God Calling books and the Jesus Calling series teach the principles of mediumship with gentle, repetitive commands that are woven into the text and scattered throughout the books. Readers are progressively presented with meditation techniques that sound vaguely scriptural but are not actually found in the Bible. Devoted readers, consciously or not, may find themselves gradually embracing an Eastern model of religious devotion, characterized by a consistent list of imperatives:

1. Spend Time Alone
2. Sit in Silence
3. Sit Still
4. Relax
5. Open Your Hands
6. Breathe in Spirit
7. Repeat "Jesus"
8. Quiet Your Mind
9. Focus
10. Open Yourself
11. Invite
12. Feel the Presence
13. Absorb
14. Visualize "Jesus"
15. Listen
16. Converse
17. Think God Thoughts
18. Write If You Receive a Message
19. Transition
20. Channel Throughout the Day

The first few steps are innocuous in and of themselves. For example, sitting alone in a quiet place is a helpful way to pray or study the Bible. Taking a break and relaxing is sometimes good for the human body. Yet these practices, as well as the others on the list, are not taught in Scripture. They are taught instead by psychics as techniques for achieving a trance state for contacting spirit guides.

What about Psalm 46:10?

Psalm 46:10 is commonly taken out of context as a command to sit motionless and practice meditation. This interpretation is not supported by the surrounding verses:

The nations rage, the kingdoms totter;
he utters his voice, the earth melts.
The LORD of hosts is with us;
the God of Jacob is our fortress.
Come, behold the works of the LORD,
how he has brought desolations on the earth.
He makes wars cease to the end of the earth;
he breaks the bow and shatters the spear;
he burns the chariots with fire.
“Be still, and know that I am God.
I will be exalted among the nations,
I will be exalted in the earth!”
The LORD of hosts is with us;
the God of Jacob is our fortress. (Psalm 46:6-11 ESV)

Is meditation the most important duty?

Both God Calling and Jesus Calling elevate meditation time above every other spiritual practice:

the greatest work either of you can do, and are doing, is done in this time apart with Me. (GC Feb 14)

Nothing is as important as spending time with Me.
(JC Mar 27)

If meditation time is the most important daily activity for a believer, then why didn't Jesus teach it when He was on earth? Why didn't Peter and Paul mention it—especially when they were anticipating death and writing urgent final instructions to their readers? (2 Peter 1:14; 2 Timothy 4:6)

The 20 Imperatives

The list of imperatives above is expanded in the following pages with over 800 quotations from the God Calling books and the Jesus Calling series. Quotation marks and initial ellipses are omitted for readability.
